Democrats Eye Pump-Priming To Aid Economy

Roads, Housing Get Study; Tax-Cutting Proposals Also Talked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democrats picked highways and housing today as likely to offer the speediest opportunities to pump federal expenditures into the faltering economy.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) announced the Senate Public Works subcommittee heads will begin hearings Tuesday on proposals to accelerate the interstate highway program.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said he is drafting legislation aimed at making it easier for people with moderate incomes to buy houses in the $10,000 to $15,000 bracket.

Sparkman's plans call for still further easing of down payment requirements in that bracket, and for other actions to make more housing credit available.

The weekend brought disclosure also that both the administration and Democratic House leaders are studying the possibility of tax cuts at some later date, and that the administration is working toward proposal of another $1 billion building program.

THE $1 BILLION, most of it from private sources, would go for construction of 150 to 170 federal buildings under a proposed revival of the lease-purchase plan. The government would take title after paying for their construction in rents over a period of years.

The government already is pushing a $636 million program involving 92 lease-purchase projects already approved.

Last week President Eisenhower proposed a $2 billion postal modernization program.

Within the government, the Treasury, the President's Council of Economic Advisers and other agencies were reported studying "renardness" plans for tax reductions, but without expecting any need to use them to bolster the economy.

House leaders are talking in terms of a tax slash of more than $5 billion, if they think the economy needs it.

The total is expected to include proposals for income tax cuts in the low and middle income brackets, whole or partial elimination of World War II transportation taxes, some excise tax reductions, relief for business, and some revisions to end hardships.

Sturdy Safe At The Herald Foils Yeggs

Burglars entered The Circleville Herald Saturday night, stole $29.25 in cash and made an unsuccessful attempt to crack a safe.

Intruders, using tools found at The Herald, forced the combination dial from the safe but failed to get the door open. The vault, containing only company records, was damaged by blows from a heavy instrument.

Today trained locksmiths from Columbus had to spend about three hours getting the safe open due to damage caused by the inept safecrackers. Police said they felt the attempted burglary was by rank amateurs.

The money was taken from a locked drawer in the rear composing room. The intruders also forced open a desk drawer in the front office but nothing was found missing.

Entry was gained through an unlocked rear door. Police said the burglary probably was committed before 10:30 p. m. when falling snow started to cover the ground.

Investigation revealed no tracks around the door officials said.

BITTER COLD TO CONTINUE

Judge Hottle Grants School Injunctions

Assets of old Wayne and New Holland School Districts are to be kept separate from assets of the Westfall School District, at least temporarily, according to an opinion handed down today by Judge Darrell R. Hottle, Highland County.

Judge Hottle's opinion was on a suit for temporary and permanent injunctions filed by the New Holland and Wayne Boards of Education and by taxpayers in each district against the Pickaway County Board of Education and its clerk and the Westfall Board of Education and its clerk.

Wayne and New Holland boards asked that the defendants be restrained from disturbing the assets and interfering in the activities of the two districts.

The funds of both school districts are to be kept intact, except for payment of obligations contracted for by the Wayne and New Holland Boards of Education before they were dissolved Dec. 7, 1957 as the result of the formation of the new Westfall District and Board of Education.

Judge Hottle, in today's opinion, granted a temporary injunction to the Wayne and New Holland Districts as they requested in suits filed in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court December 23. The decision continues a temporary restraining order handed down December 23 by Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer.

Hottle was assigned to replace Ammer on the bench after the local judge ruled himself out of the cases.

IN EFFECT, the temporary injunction prevents the Westfall board from mingling the funds of the two old districts with Westfall funds, prevents the Westfall board from incurring any debts in both districts and keeps it from levying taxes and from paying bills incurred after formation of the Westfall district.

Judge Hottle, in his opinion, said the object is to preserve the status of the funds and financial structure of the former districts so that the districts "can reasonably be in as good position under the administration of the Westfall Board of Education as they might have been under the administration of the former Wayne and New Holland Boards, contemplating a transfer of territory to another district."

The decision means that all contracts made by the Wayne and New Holland boards shall be honored by the Westfall board and paid from funds kept separate from Westfall funds, but that obligations incurred after December 7

by the Westfall board for the benefit of the two districts cannot be paid from funds of the two districts unless OK'd by the court.

The decision makes it clear that Judge Hottle feels the Wayne and New Holland districts were dissolved when the Westfall Board was created December 7, 1957, and that the Westfall board is now the only valid governing body of the district.

Judge Hottle granted a motion by the defendants that the Wayne and New Holland boards of education be dismissed from the action since they no longer exist. That leaves the only plaintiffs as William Barthelmas, Route 2, a taxpayer in Wayne Twp., and William A. Woods, Route 1, New Holland, a taxpayer in the old New Holland District.

The Highland County jurist said today his decision was made prior to the decision of the State Board of Education to transfer both Wayne and New Holland Districts from the Westfall District a week ago. Although there is no connection between the two opinions,

Ike Urging 'Normal Channel' Work To Plan Summit Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower in a new letter to Soviet Premier Bulganin has suggested that both sides work through "normal channels" for an eventual East-West summit conference. He described present efforts as an "impasse."

In what was in effect a reply to Bulganin's criticism of Secretary of State Dulles, Eisenhower said any preparatory work "would, as far as the United States was concerned, require the participation of our Secretary of State."

The White House made public today the text of Eisenhower's six-page reply to letters from Bulganin. It was sent to Moscow Saturday.

Eisenhower expressed "considerable puzzlement" in view of Bulganin's proposals as to "what you think another such summit meeting could contribute to a genuine settlement of our problems."

He accused Bulganin of demanding "the right to veto discussion" of the proposals Eisenhower believes vital to international peace.

EISENHOWER said he came to this conclusion because Bulganin has "proposed and insisted on" discussing ten topics. Eisenhower in turn suggested discussing eight other problems to which Bulganin has objected.

Hagerty also announced Eisenhower receipt of an "encouraging" report dealing with the nation's domestic economy and prospects for ending the business recession.

The report, sent to the President by Director Albert M. Cole of the Housing Home Finance Agency, says there was "a rather sharp increase in January in the rate at which builders have been making applications for home mortgage insurance commitments."

Hagerty said Cole regards the increase as one piece of evidence the general economic picture may brighten soon. The press secretary said Eisenhower tagged the study "an encouraging sign."

Out in Space--No Whistling?

Airman Completes 7-Day Simulated Trip to Moon

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Airman Donald G. Farrell completed seven days in a make-believe space ship Sunday and came out saying "I believe anyone could have done the same thing."

Scientists at the school of aviation medicine at Randolph Air Force Base jubilantly agreed that the 23-year-old native of the Bronx, N.Y., had just proved that man is ready for space flight.

"There was one strange sensation," Farrell said after a solid week in a hermetically sealed tank that represented the cabin of a space ship.

"I couldn't whistle."

Other than that the calm volunteer reported few physical or mental discomforts on being locked in the tanklike experimental space cabin. He could not see or hear what was going on outside.

He did not think the clustered researchers could hear him. However, it was revealed during the tests that he could be heard by special microphone that was recording his report on paper.

Only by checking his watch and marking a calendar was he able to tell if it was day or night.

"I didn't feel in the true sense that I was on a space ship," he said. "I realized that I was on the ground at all times. There was no fear such as there might be in a real space ship. Other than that it simulated a real space ship flight."

Space test experts explained that Farrell's nonwhistling ability stemmed from the fact that a simulated 18,000-foot altitude was maintained in the space chamber. Farrell's own comments on the test included: "I lost four pounds—but I could afford to lose four pounds. I only weigh 181 now."

"At no time did I get bored."

"I was kept busy enough that there was no thought of personal discomfort."

"I kept a diary and put in everything that transpired."

"Really and truly, I could like to make a trip to the moon."

Back home in the Bronx, his parents were pleased that he came out grinning. "Wonderful news," said Mr. and Mrs. James A. Farrell.

Farrell crawled into the 2-by-3-foot cabin with no more fuss than a Sunday motorist getting into the family car. He emerged in almost the same fashion. His eyes looked red as if strained by too glaring bright lights that burned night and day for the benefit of a battery of cameras designed to record his movements.

He ducked out of the cabin and stretched to his full six-foot height for the first time in a week. Only by shifting scientific equipment that almost filled the cabin was Farrell able to partially lie down for his 4½-hour sleeping periods.

"I believe I was afforded ample space for the duties performed," he said.

He said he had plenty to eat and ate everything put inside the cabin "from Vienna sausage to quails eggs."

"The eggs were boiled and canned," he said. "I think maybe someone intended them for a surprise but they were quite good."

"This airman not only knows how to ride a space ship but he knows how to hold a press conference," said Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, who made a special trip here just to greet Farrell.

U.S., Britain To Mediate Tunisian Fuss

Big Nations Hoping To Prevent Debate Before U.N. Council

PARIS (AP)—France and Tunisia today accepted the good offices of the United States and Britain to settle the French-Tunisian crisis.

The American and British offers were made to French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau this morning by British Ambassador Sir Gladwyn Jebb and U. S. Ambassador Amory Houghton.

The offer was made and accepted after Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba announced in Tunis that he had ordered a new demand be made to the U. N. Security Council for an investigation of the Algerian rebellion.

Bourguiba said he had cabled his U. N. delegate, Mongi Slim, to put the new demand before the Council as an expansion of Tunisia's previous protest against French air attack Feb. 8 on the village of Sakiet Sidi Youssef.

THE COUNCIL is scheduled to debate the first Tunisian complaint on Tuesday. The British-American offer was designed to avert this debate, which the West feels would give the Communists a new chance for propaganda attacks.

The United States and Britain hope that Tunisia and France will tell the Council they had already arranged for efforts to solve their dispute, a device which usually cuts off Council debate before it starts.

Bourguiba said he had enlarged his demand because France had countered his first protest to the U. N. with a demand for a U. N. investigation of Algerian rebel operations from Tunisian sanctuaries.

The French contended they bombed Sakiet Sidi Youssef because rebels were concentrated there. The Tunisians claim 79 persons, including women and children, were killed.

Western sources termed the new Tunisian move "highly embarrassing." They feared it would give the Communists a new platform from which to attack the West.

The American Embassy said Bourguiba's action had made U. S. conciliation efforts more difficult. "It is time for the whole free world to take a stand on Algeria," the Tunisian president said. "One can no longer continue the fiction that it is only an affair for France."

"They (the French) have charged that the fellagha (rebels) operate from Tunisia. Now I want the world to see and discuss what has made these fellagha, why there are fellagha and why they fight."

The Asian-Arab group of nations has brought the Algerian rebellion before the General Assembly three times but it has not been before the Security Council before. France has previously rejected all U. N. intervention, contending that her North African territory is her domestic concern.

St. Philip's Church To Get New Rector

The Rev. William Huber, Delaware City, Del., yesterday accepted a call to become rector of Circleville's St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

He will succeed the Rev. Jack Bennett, who left Oct. 1, 1957 to become rector of St. James Church in Zanesville.

Announcement of the Rev. Huber's decision was made to the parish at yesterday's services. Since October, Sunday services have been under the direction of the Rev. Herbert Pennock, a retired rector from Cincinnati.

The Rev. Huber presently is rector of Christ Church, at Delaware City. He is expected in Circleville sometime after Easter.

Irish Rebels Battled

MIDDLETOWN, Northern Ireland (AP)—Raiders from the Irish Republic and North Ireland police fought a 20-minute gun battle early today. No casualties were reported.

UP IN ARMS — A huge mob surges around the presidential palace in Tunis to demand that President Habib Bourguiba give them arms to avenge a French bombing of a Tunisian village. Meanwhile, France has begun flying emergency food and water supplies to its 16 thousand and blockaded troops.

Some Unusual Happenings Developed by Weatherman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The current frigid weather is producing some unusual happenings. Witness:

The editor of the Old Farmers Almanac, which is widely considered a safe weather forecaster, was scheduled to speak in York, Me., Sunday night. Sponsors had let editor Robb Sagendorph pick the date on the assumption that he would choose a nice night. The speech was canceled because of a blizzard.

When Mrs. Oscar Dancy went into labor at her home on top of Montana Mountain, N. J., during the height of the snowstorm, state police sent a snowplow to clear the road to her house. The snowplow got stuck.

So police called in the National Guard which sent a 45-ton tank to plow through the road.

Mrs. Dancy was rushed to a hospital in Washington, N. J.

Among the hundreds of Boy Scouts marooned by snow on weekend trips to mountain areas were 40 boys stranded on top of Kittatinny Mountain in New Jersey. A snowplow couldn't reach them, but one boy managed to wade through the drifts to a telephone and call to reassure their families. His report: "Having a wonderful time."

A young couple spent their wedding night with 20 relatives and friends in the Ascension Roman Catholic Church in Bowie, Md.

Five-foot drifts of snow blocked the church doors during the ceremony and reception Saturday for Joan Patten, 20, of Bowie and William A. Fletcher, 22, of Covington, Md.

A bulldozer blazed a rescue trail Sunday.

And in Cincinnati, Mrs. Mary Hart had cold feet so she heated a flat iron on a stove, wrapped it in a towel and went to bed.

The idea worked and she soon was asleep. But her comfort was short lived. She awoke to find the bed afire.

Mrs. Hart and 10 other residents of the building fled into the early morning cold. Firemen said damage was about $500.

A similar story comes from Detroit. Because his feet were cold, Thomas McDowell tucked a lighted electric bulb next to his feet when he went to bed Sunday night. Outside it was six below zero.

At 2 a. m. firemen, summoned by neighbors who smelled a smoke, found McDowell unconscious from smoke inhalation. His bed was smoldering and his feet blistered.

Daley sent nine snow plows to aid the stricken community. George Chacharis, acting mayor of Gary, Ind., sent 13 road machines.

Washington, D. C., was paralyzed by a 14-inch snowfall, the District's worst in 22 years. Thousands of government workers remain home today with White House approval. All schools were closed.

While Weather Bureau officials in New York City hesitated to call the Northeast storm a blizzard, they conceded that one of a blizzard's three key features—frigid temperatures—had made use of the term possible.

The temperature in New York City was down to 8 degrees.

The two other attributes of a blizzard, swirling snow and high winds, had already taken hold of much of the Atlantic Coast.

Even after the center of the storm had passed most of the Northeastern section of the nation, snow continued to fall from the eastern Great Lakes and the upper Ohio Valley to New England. Winds reached 50 miles an hour.

Lebanon, N. H., recorded 58 inches of snow on the ground while Boston and Caribou, Maine, reported depths of 19 and 32 inches, respectively.

In Boston, a 37-year-old record was swept from the books last night when 17 inches were measured. The City Weather Bureau spoke of "the wildest coastal storm of the winter." The old mark, a 24-hour snowfall of 16½ inches, set in 1921.

AT LEAST 11 Connecticut communities declared states of emergency and similar steps were ordered in other New England states, New York and Pennsylvania. The big problem was drifts—some as high as a two-story building blocked highways and isolated entire towns.

The storm death toll by states included: Alabama 6; Connecticut 8; Colorado 5; District of Columbia 3; Illinois 2; Iowa 4; Maine 1; Maryland 11; Massachusetts 6; Michigan 6; Missouri 3; New Hampshire 5; New Jersey 12; New York 13; North Carolina 6; Ohio 8; Pennsylvania 17; Rhode Island 1; South Carolina 3; Tennessee 6; Virginia 4; West Virginia 7; Kentucky 3 and Wisconsin 2.

5-Day Forecast For Ohio Hints More Misery

Sub-Zero Temperatures Set Records in Both Cincinnati, Columbus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio appears to be in for its most severe stretch of bitter weather of the winter. Here is the forecast for the next five days:

"Temperatures will average 14-18 degrees below normal. Normal high 37 north, 44 south; normal low 21-25. Temperatures will remain well below normal throughout the week with occasional light snow flurries over most of state."

Early today, the U. S. Weather Bureau reported lows of 10 degrees below zero in Ashland and Akron, making them the coldest spots in Ohio.

The "warmest" spot in the state was Chesapeake in Lawrence County where the reading was an even zero.

Other temperatures reported were Toledo, 9 below; Findlay and Zanesville, 7 below; Cleveland, 6 below; Cincinnati, 4 below; and Columbus 2 below.

A STIFF, 30 mile-an-hour wind blowing off Lake Erie caused considerable drifting of a four-inch accumulation of snow in the Cleveland area.

Chill 4 Below Coldest Day Since 1885

Brother, its cold outside, and the weatherman says it will stay that way tonight and tomorrow.

After dropping to a record low of four degrees below zero here last night the weatherman gave no encouragement at all by saying the mercury will dip to 2-10 below tonight.

Records show that last night's minus four was the lowest February 17 reading since 1885. Chances are the record will be broken again tonight.

The miserable chill here brought on its usual troubles. Many local people complained of frozen pipes and inability to keep their houses warm.

The local fire department was summoned to the home of Mrs. Emma Essick, 223 Walnut St. today at 8:15 a. m. when a floor furnace became overheated. No damage resulted.

ACCORDING TO The Ohio Fuel Gas officials the gas pressure here is normal despite a heavy drain on the supply.

Local veterinarians said there has been no serious report of livestock deaths due to the cold although the freezing temperature is having an adverse effect on young hogs and calves.

Continued very cold tonight and Tuesday with fair skies. Low tonight 2-10 below zero. High tomorrow 5-16 above. Yesterday's high, 29, low, -4. Temperature at 8 a. m., -4.

Last week President Eisenhower proposed a $2 billion postal modernization program.

House leaders are talking in terms of a tax slash of more than $5 billion, if they think the economy needs it.

The total is expected to include proposals for income tax cuts in the low and middle income brackets, whole or partial elimination of World War II transportation taxes, some excise tax reductions, relief for business, and some revisions to end hardships.

BITTER COLD TO CONTINUE

Judge Hottle Grants School Injunctions

Assets of old Wayne and New Holland School Districts are to be kept separate from assets of the Westfall School District, at least temporarily, according to an opinion handed down today by Judge Darrell R. Hottle, Highland County.

Judge Hottle's opinion was on a suit for temporary and permanent injunctions filed by the New Holland and Wayne Boards of Education and by taxpayers in each district against the Pickaway County Board of Education and its clerk and the Westfall Board of Education and its clerk.

Wayne and New Holland boards asked that the defendants be restrained from disturbing the assets and interfering in the activities of the two districts.

The funds of both school districts are to be kept intact, except for payment of obligations contracted for by the Wayne and New Holland Boards of Education before they were dissolved Dec. 7, 1957 as the result of the formation of the new Westfall District and Board of Education.

Judge Hottle, in today's opinion, granted a temporary injunction to the Wayne and New Holland Districts as they requested in suits filed in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court December 23. The decision continues a temporary restraining order handed down December 23 by Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer.

Hottle was assigned to replace Ammer on the bench after the local judge ruled himself out of the cases.

IN EFFECT, the temporary injunction prevents the Westfall board from mingling the funds of the two old districts with Westfall funds, prevents the Westfall board from incurring any debts in both districts and keeps it from levying taxes and from paying bills incurred after formation of the Westfall district.

Judge Hottle, in his opinion, said the object is to preserve the status of the funds and financial structure of the former districts so that the districts "can reasonably be in as good position under the administration of the Westfall Board of Education as they might have been under the administration of the former Wayne and New Holland Boards, contemplating a transfer of territory to another district."

The decision means that all contracts made by the Wayne and New Holland boards shall be honored by the Westfall board and paid from funds kept separate from Westfall funds, but that obligations incurred after December 7

by the Westfall board for the benefit of the two districts cannot be paid from funds of the two districts unless OK'd by the court.

The decision makes it clear that Judge Hottle feels the Wayne and New Holland districts were dissolved when the Westfall Board was created December 7, 1957, and that the Westfall board is now the only valid governing body of the district.

Judge Hottle granted a motion by the defendants that the Wayne and New Holland boards of education be dismissed from the action since they no longer exist. That leaves the only plaintiffs as William Barthelmas, Route 2, a taxpayer in Wayne Twp., and William A. Woods, Route 1, New Holland, a taxpayer in the old New Holland District.

The Highland County jurist said today his decision was made prior to the decision of the State Board of Education to transfer both Wayne and New Holland Districts from the Westfall District a week ago. Although there is no connection between the two opinions, they go hand in hand in that the assets of the districts will be kept intact at least until the districts are transferred to their new home about July 1. Wayne will join Circleville City School District and New Holland will join the Fayette County School District.

Today County Superintendent George McDowell said that each district has incurred about $500 in debts since December 7, chiefly for cafeteria operations, that cannot be paid by the Westfall board without court approval.

Teachers' salaries and other long-term contracts, which usually are made early in the school year, can be paid by the funds of both districts.

THE JUDGE'S opinion is to be journalized within three days. Next step probably will be a hearing on a demurrer, filed by the defendants after the January 10 hearing here on the temporary restraining order, from whence today's opinion came.

Judge Hottle said today he has no idea of when the hearing on the demurrer will be heard.

U.S. Air Force Goofs, Okinawa Given Alert

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—The U. S. Air Force got its signals crossed and put Okinawa under a false air defense alert today.

The 5th Air Force said an alert signaled by a training group in the Pacific was mistakenly transmitted to Okinawa and the island went on yellow alert—"an air raid is probable."

Police ran for air raid shelters, anti-aircraft crews went on duty.

Farrell crawled into the 3-by-5-foot cabin with no more fuss than a Sunday motorist getting into the family car. He emerged in almost the same fashion. His eyes looked red as if strained by two glaring bright lights that burned night and day for the benefit of a battery of cameras designed to record his movements.

He ducked out of the cabin and stretched to his full six-foot height for the first time in a week. Only by shifting scientific equipment that almost filled the cabin was Farrell able to partially lie down for his 4½-hour sleeping periods.

"I believe I was afforded ample space for the duties performed," he said.

Farrell crawled into the 3-by-5-foot cabin with no more fuss than a Sunday motorist getting into the family car. He emerged in almost the same fashion. His eyes looked red as if strained by two glaring bright lights that burned night and day for the benefit of a battery of cameras designed to record his movements.

He ducked out of the cabin and stretched to his full six-foot height for the first time in a week. Only by shifting scientific equipment that almost filled the cabin was Farrell able to partially lie down for his 4½-hour sleeping periods.

"I believe I was afforded ample space for the duties performed," he said.

U.S., Britain To Mediate Tunisian Fuss

Big Nations Hoping To Prevent Debate Before U.N. Council

PARIS (AP)—France and Tunisia today accepted the good offices of the United States and Britain to settle the French-Tunisian crisis.

The American and British offers were made to French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau this morning by British Ambassador Sir Gladwyn Jebb and U. S. Ambassador Amory Houghton.

The offer was made and accepted after Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba announced in Tunis that he had ordered a new demand be made to the U. N. Security Council for an investigation of the Algerian rebellion.

Bourguiba said he had cabled his U. N. delegate, Mongi Slim, to put the new demand before the Council as an expansion of Tunisia's previous protest against French air attack Feb. 8 on the village of Sakiet Sidi Youssef.

THE COUNCIL is scheduled to debate the first Tunisian complaint on Tuesday. The British-American offer was designed to avert this debate, which the West feels would give the Communists a new chance for propaganda attacks.

The United States and Britain hope that Tunisia and France will tell the Council they had already arranged for efforts to solve their dispute, a device which usually cuts off Council debate before it starts.

Bourguiba said he had enlarged his demand because France had countered his first protest to the U. N. with a demand for a U. N. investigation of Algerian rebel operations from Tunisian sanctuaries.

The French contended they bombed Sakiet Sidi Youssef because rebels were concentrated there. The Tunisians claim 79 persons, including women and children, were killed.

Western sources termed the new Tunisian move "highly embarrassing." They feared it would give the Communists a new platform from which to attack the West.

The American Embassy said Bourguiba's action had made U. N. conciliation efforts more difficult.

"It is time for the whole free world to take a stand on Algeria," the Tunisian president said. "One can no longer continue the fiction that it is only an affair for France."

"They (the French) have charged that the fellagha (rebels) operate from Tunisia. Now I want the world to see and discuss what has made these fellagha, why there are fellagha and why they fight."

The Asian-Arab group of nations has brought the Algerian rebellion before the General Assembly three times but it has not been before the Security Council before. France has previously rejected all U. N. intervention, contending that her North African territory is her domestic concern.

St. Philip's Church To Get New Rector

The Rev. William Huber, Delaware City, Del., yesterday accepted a call to become rector of Circleville's St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

He will succeed the Rev. Jack Bennett, who left Oct. 1, 1957 to become rector of St. James Church in Zanesville.

Announcement of the Rev. Huber's decision was made to the parish at yesterday's services. Since October, Sunday services have been under the direction of the Rev. Herbert Pennock, a retired rector from Cincinnati.

The Rev. Huber presently is rector of Christ Church, at Delaware City. He is expected in Circleville sometime after Easter.

Irish Rebels Battled

MIDDLETOWN, Northern Ireland (AP)—Raiders from the Irish Republic and North Ireland police fought a 20-minute gun battle early today. No casualties were reported.

UP IN ARMS — A huge mob surges around the presidential palace in Tunis to demand that President Habib Bourguiba give them arms to avenge a French bombing of a Tunisian village. Meanwhile, France has begun flying emergency food and water supplies to its 16 thousand and blockaded troops.

Some Unusual Happenings Developed by Weatherman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The current frigid weather is producing some unusual happenings. Witness:

The editor of the Old Farmers Almanac, which is widely considered a safe weather forecaster, was scheduled to speak in York, Me., Sunday night. Sponsors had let editor Robb Sagendorf pick the date on the assumption that he would choose a nice night. The speech was canceled because of a blizzard.

When Mrs. Oscar Dancy went into labor at her home on top of Montana Mountain, N. J., during the height of the snowstorm, state police sent a snowplow to clear the road to her house. The snowplow got stuck.

So police called in the National Guard which sent a 45-ton tank to plow through the road.

Mrs. Dancy was rushed to a hospital in Washington, N. J. Among the hundreds of Boy Scouts marooned by snow on weekend trips to mountain areas were 40 boys stranded on top of Kittatinny Mountain in New Jersey.

A snowplow couldn't reach them, but one boy managed to wade through the drifts to a telephone and call to reassure their families. His report: "Having a wonderful time."

A young couple spent their wedding night with 20 relatives and friends in the Ascension Roman Catholic Church in Bowie, Md.

Five-foot drifts of snow blocked the church doors during the ceremony and reception Saturday for Joan Patten, 20, of Bowie and William A. Fletcher, 22, of Covington, Md.

A bulldozer blazed a rescue trail Sunday.

And in Cincinnati, Mrs. Mary Hart had cold feet so she heated a flat iron on a stove, wrapped it in a towel and went to bed.

The idea worked and she soon was asleep. But her comfort was short lived. She awoke to find the bed afire.

Mrs. Hart and 10 other residents of the building fled into the early morning cold. Firemen said damage was about $500.

A similar story comes from Detroit. Because his feet were cold, Thomas McDowell tucked a lighted electric bulb next to his feet when he went to bed Sunday night. Outside it was six below zero.

At 2 a. m. firemen, summoned by neighbors who smelled smoke, found McDowell unconscious from smoke inhalation. His bed was smoldering and his feet blistered.

Daley sent nine snow plows to aid the stricken community. George Chacharis, acting mayor of Gary, Ind., sent 13 road machines.

Washington, D. C., was paralyzed by a 14-inch snowfall. The District's worst in 22 years. Thousands of government workers remain home today with White House approval. All schools were closed.

While Weather Bureau officials in New York City hesitated to call the Northeast storm a blizzard, they conceded that one of a blizzard's three key features—frigid temperatures—had made use of the term possible.

The temperature in New York City was down to 8 degrees.

The two other attributes of a blizzard, swirling snow and high winds, had already taken hold of much of the Atlantic Coast.

Even after the center of the storm had passed most of the Northeastern section of the nation, snow continued to fall from the eastern Great Lakes and the upper Ohio Valley to New England.

Winds reached 50 miles an hour. Lebanon, N. H., recorded 58 inches of snow on the ground while Boston and Caribou, Maine, reported depths of 19 and 32 inches, respectively.

In Boston, a 37-year-old record was swept from the books last night when 17 inches were measured. The City Weather Bureau spoke of "the wildest coastal storm of the winter." The old mark, a 24-hour snowfall of 16½ inches, set in 1921.

AT LEAST 11 Connecticut communities declared states of emergency and similar steps were ordered in other New England states, New York and Pennsylvania. The big problem was drifts—some as high as a two-story building blocked highways and isolated entire towns.

The storm death toll by states included: Alabama 6; Connecticut 3; Colorado 5; District of Columbia 3; Illinois 2; Iowa 4; Maine 1; Maryland 11; Massachusetts 6; Michigan 6; Missouri 3; New Hampshire 3; New Jersey 12; New York 13; North Carolina 6; Ohio 8; Pennsylvania 17; Rhode Island 1; South Carolina 3; Tennessee 6; Virginia 4; West Virginia 7; Kentucky 3 and Wisconsin 2.

5-Day Forecast For Ohio Hints More Misery

Sub-Zero Temperatures Set Records in Both Cincinnati, Columbus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio appears to be in for its most severe stretch of bitter weather of the winter. Here is the forecast for the next five days: "Temperatures will average 14-18 degrees below normal. Normal high 37 north, 44 south; normal low 21-25. Temperatures will remain well below normal throughout the week with occasional light snow flurries over most of state."

Early today, the U. S. Weather Bureau reported lows of 10 degrees below zero in Ashland and Akron, making them the coldest spots in Ohio.

The "warmest" spot in the state was Chesapeake in Lawrence County where the reading was an even zero.

Other temperatures reported were Toledo, 9 below; Findlay and Zanesville, 7 below; Cleveland, 6 below; Cincinnati, 4 below; and Columbus 2 below.

A STIFF, 30 mile-an-hour wind blowing off Lake Erie caused considerable drifting of a four-inch accumulation of snow in the Cleveland area.

Chill 4 Below Coldest Day Since 1885

Brother, its cold outside, and the weatherman says it will stay that way tonight and tomorrow.

After dropping to a record low of four degrees below zero here last night the weatherman gave no encouragement at all by saying the mercury will dip to 2-10 below tonight.

Records show that last night's minus four was the lowest February 17 reading since 1885. Chances are the record will be broken again tonight.

The miserable chill here brought on its usual troubles. Many local people complained of frozen pipes and inability to keep their houses warm.

The local fire department was summoned to the home of Mrs. Emma Essick, 223 Walnut St. today at 8:15 a. m. when a floor furnace became overheated. No damage resulted.

ACCORDING TO The Ohio Fuel Gas officials the gas pressure here is normal despite a heavy drain on the supply.

Local veterinarians said there has been no serious report of livestock deaths due to the cold although the freezing temperature is having an adverse effect on young hogs and calves.

Northeast U. S. Blanketed By Cold Blast, Heavy Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A death-dealing storm swept across the Northeast Sunday, leaving snow falls of up to 45 inches. The storm had hit an area from Mississippi to New England.

The storm was centered over Maine today and heading for the Atlantic. Meanwhile, a polar air mass over the Midwest dropped temperatures to the lowest of the year.

The upper Plains had readings such as 30 below zero at Bemidji, Minn., and 29 below at Bemidji, Minn.

Winter's double-barreled blast left in its wake 140 dead.

Northeast Pennsylvania was crippled by its worst snow storm in 50 years.

An estimated 40 to 45 inches fell in Wayne County in the extreme northeastern corner of the state.

A freak blizzard over an area only about 20 miles square around Michigan City, Ind., dropped up to 36 inches of snow.

THE LAKE Michigan port city's 30,000 residents were almost completely isolated. Mayor Francis Fedder declared a state of emergency. Chicago's Mayor Richard

Daley sent nine snow plows to aid the stricken community. George Chacharis, acting mayor of Gary, Ind., sent 13 road machines.

Washington, D. C., was paralyzed by a 14-inch snowfall. The District's worst in 22 years. Thousands of government workers remain home today with White House approval. All schools were closed.

Stock Mart Turnover Is Light Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Some tobacco and drug shares did well in an otherwise irregular stock market early this afternoon. Turnover was light.

Most key stocks showed fractional changes with an occasional loss running to a point or so. Among drugs and tobaccos the gains went to a point and more.

The market was moderately active at the start and prices were a bit lower than at Friday's close. Trading became very sluggish until mid-morning when there was some improvement.

Airlines and radio - televisions were generally higher. Steels, rails and nonferrous metals were mixed. Motors, farm implements and chemicals declined, the latter showing some good-sized losses. Oils were narrowly mixed with a downside tendency.

Additional news of cutbacks in production and price cuts in crude oil backgrounded the market.

Lorillard advanced well over a point. Philip Morris was ahead about a point and American Tobacco steadied after an early loss.

Scherer was another gainer in about the one-point range while Pfizer added a generous fraction.

Union Carbide and Allied Chemical were down about a point each and Du Pont's loss stretched beyond that. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Kennecott, Westinghouse Electric and Goodyear were unfractured.

U. S. government bonds moved to the upside.

According to police, the juvenile took a car owned by Charles Wallace, Williamsport, Saturday between 6:30 and 7 p. m. Wallace said his auto was taken while he was shopping in a Williamsport grocery store.

Wallace informed the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department which in turn notified city police and the State Highway Patrol.

City Patrolman William Brungs said he spotted the boy driving the car at about 8:30 p. m. at Scioto and Main Sts. He made the apprehension and removed the youth to the Pickaway County jail.

The owner said he would file charges today.

Kneec received deep lacerations of the face and hands from broken glass. He was listed in fair condition today.

Kneec told Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey that he lost control of his eastbound car. He said the last he could remember was the auto going off the road.

Deputy Felkey said the car apparently traveled about 645 feet out of control and struck a bridge abutment. The vehicle was demolished.

land area. Predictions were for more snow today.

At least nine storm deaths, including six in traffic accidents, were reported since snow began falling in Ohio Friday.

Three deaths falling in the miscellaneous category claimed a couple and their infant son. The three were asphyxiated by carbon monoxide fumes from an improperly vented gas heater.

Passing lanes of the Ohio Turnpike were snow-covered and the safe speed limit on the toll road was reduced to 40 m.p.h.

Eastbound flights of three airlines out of Cleveland Hopkins Airport were cancelled Sunday night because of runway conditions in New York, Philadelphia and Washington. About 130 airline passengers—mostly coast-to-coast non-stop passengers headed east—spent the night in Cleveland hotels.

Trains and buses from the east ran as much as two hours late into Cleveland.

Skies were generally clear over the rest of the state, but lows ranging from 5 below zero to 8 above were predicted.

THE STATE highway patrol reported that most of the state's highways were slippery, especially in the northeastern sector.

The 4 below zero in Cincinnati made today the coldest Feb. 17 in the Queen City in 55 years. The Columbus mark of three below was the coldest Feb. 17 there in 73 years.

Another death was attributed to the weather from non-traffic causes. A 68-year-old Elvira man died of a heart attack Sunday after shoveling snow from his sidewalk.

There were four inches of snow on the ground in the Cleveland-Youngstown-Akron-Canton area and about two over the rest of the state. Toledo had six inches of accumulated snow but little prospect for more immediately.

Two high school students, accustomed to being able to drive three miles across frozen Lake Erie from their Put-in-Bay homes to the mainland, were unpleasantly surprised Saturday night.

Charles Duggan, 17, and Sharon Lunt, 16, were pulled from the icy waters of the lake when their jalousy went through the ice about half a mile from Put-in-Bay.

Automobile battery suppliers did a land-office business as the thousands quietly laid down and died.

A number of schools in the more frigid parts of the state decided the game wasn't worth the candle and told their youngsters to take the day off.

All highways are open, but driving is hazardous in northern Ohio. North of a line through Van Wert, Kenton, Bucyrus, Mansfield, Wooster, Canton and Youngstown, there is four to six inches of snow on the ground and it is drifting.

Schools were closed in such widely separated places as the Upper Sandusky area, Jefferson, Portage, Medina, Hamilton and Toledo areas.

Freezing was reported on the Ohio River in the Cincinnati area, but barge traffic still was moving in that vital waterway. Ice was not thick enough to hamper navigation yet. Unofficial readings in the Cincinnati suburban area ranged down to 10-below.

Woman, 41, Freezes in Freak Mishap

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A woman using a ladder to reach her second-story bedroom window, froze to death today when she slipped and became wedged between the roof and an overhang.

The body of Mrs. Robbie Lee Keith, 41, was discovered by her landlady, Mrs. Lois Noel. She told police she had the only key to the house and that Mrs. Keith often used the ladder to gain entry.

It was three below zero, police said, when Mrs. Keith climbed a ladder and reached the peaked roof of a bathroom addition directly below the bedroom window. She slipped and slid down the

Unemployment Worries O'Neill

Special Study Panel Planned by Governor

COLUMBUS (AP)—Unemployment in Ohio is causing Gov. C. William O'Neill the most concern during his recovery from a recent heart attack.

The governor told a news conference today that he has named an administration committee to attack the problem and will appoint a commission of outstanding Ohioans to help.

He said he expected reports on unemployment, welfare and other problems by the first week in March when "I expect to be back at the office full time."

O'Neill discussed the problem at his first news conference since stricken Jan. 22.

He received a score of newsmen in the dining room of the mansion. It was the governor's first trip downstairs since the illness which kept him abed until last week. The governor said his half-hour periods out of bed have been lengthened and that physicians assured him that if he followed their advice now he would be "good as new" later.

O'Neill said he still feels a special session of the legislature is not needed at this time to deal with unemployment, welfare or other state problems. He said his administration committee, composed of cabinet members, would report on the adequacy of public works programs also. He expressed the hope that federal funds would be advancing to speed highway building in Ohio because that would help ease unemployment.

O'Neill said he expects to conduct an active campaign for reelection as he made in seeking the governorship two years ago.

Previous reports indicated that the governor planned to campaign on a reduced scale because of his illness.

Grouping Students By Ability Urged

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Dr. James B. Conant recommended today that the nation's high schools group their students by ability, wherever possible, so that they may proceed at a pace in keeping with their talents.

This, the former president of Harvard said, would apply to 15 or 20 per cent of the student body that is particularly gifted, as well as to the 10 to 15 per cent who aren't capable of keeping up.

Dr. Conant, in a speech at the 42nd annual convention of the National Assn. of Secondary School Principals, said the slower students should be taken out of the required courses such as English, history and mathematics.

Benson Appears Cautious On 1958 Price Supports

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson is moving cautiously on price supports for 1958 crops of corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums—the raw materials for meats, dairy and poultry products.

His policies would appear to dictate a further downward adjustment in government price floors for these livestock feed grains. Surpluses of them are larger than ever before. There is room under the flexible support law to lower price props for these crops.

Benson has said that one maior cause of overproduction has been incentives provided by the price supports.

But the administration farm chief recognizes that what he does with regard to prices for feed grains has repercussions in the field of livestock, dairy and poultry production.

When feed prices are low in relation to prices of livestock and livestock products, there is a tendency for farmers to expand production of the latter. At the present time, the price relationship is generally favorable for the livestock producer.

Any substantial lowering of feed grain supports at this time, insofar as it influenced market prices to drop lower, would make livestock production even more favorable. The result could be a step-up in production of hogs, milk, and poultry that would bring surpluses and depressed prices of these products.

Department experts said efforts are being made to arrive at price supports for the grains that would be designed to stabilize prices not only of feed but of livestock products as well.

Support rates normally are announced well ahead of the Spring planting season.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—What is honesty in a government official? Dr. Bernard Schwartz, the emotional law professor described as both brilliant and arrogant, has raised this question. It can stand steady raising in big government.

In some ways Schwartz handled himself like a juvenile. But he got results. At least so far.

He was hired by the House subcommittee on legislative oversight as chief counsel to investigate six big government regulatory agencies which were created by Congress and are answerable to Congress.

These agencies—and the 38 men who sit on their boards and commissions—make decisions affecting not only many businesses and broad areas of American life but involving billions of dollars.

They are the Federal Communications Commission, Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Power Commission, Federal Trade Commission, Civil Aeronautics Board and Securities and Exchange Commission.

Their authority includes regulation of stock exchanges, freight rates, truck licenses; approval for new radio and TV stations and air routes for airlines; say-so on telephones and telegraph; watchdogging monopolies and trade practices; and approvals for power dams.

Schwartz, feeling some subcommittee members wanted a whitewash, could have waited until he was completely blocked and then resigned, made his charges, and publicly revealed what evidence he had.

Instead, to force committee action, he "leaked" documents to newspapers, made charges, talked of "gifts" and "favors" to members of the regulatory agencies by industry, and particularly the FCC.

In the end he was fired. But he focused so much attention on the subcommittee that now it can hardly duck an investigation, even if it wanted to.

In judging a government official's honesty, some lines are clear, some not so clear. There's no doubt an official is a crook if he accepts payments from a business or industry in return for a favorable decision.

But accepting a "gift" or "favor" is not necessarily crooked although it raises questions about the good judgment of an official and can shake public confidence in government.

For example: How can an official convince anyone that this decision—in favor of some group which wanted a TV station and gave him a gift beforehand—was purely coincidental and had not been influenced?

Less often mentioned, though, is the effect of pressure—from some member of Congress of the executive branch of the government—on an official of a regulatory agency. (Schwartz talked of pressures from the White House.)

An official who yielded to such pressures—by a ruling contrary to what he thought fair and just—could not escape the dishonesty charge even though he didn't get a dime out of it.

But what is pressure? Suppose a member of Congress called up an agency and expressed interest in the outcome of a pending case. Is that pressure? Inside the agency it might be considered so.

The agencies are sensitive to Congress. It's Congress which every year decides how much money they can have to operate. An angry member of Congress could cause a lot of trouble.

Congress is zealous in seeing that certain government officials—like the secretary of defense—rid themselves completely of any interest in a company with which the government does business.

But members of Congress don't have to shed themselves of anything.

Alliance Liquor Store To Be Hailed

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state liquor store in Alliance will receive the first store-of-the-month award from the Ohio Department of Liquor Control. Director Robert D. Krupansky has announced.

The award will mark the first time in the department's history that formal recognition will be given individual stores and store personnel for their efforts "in maintaining the department's high standards of tidy store premises and well-mannered attitude in consumer relations," Krupansky said.

The award is to be presented each month to the store which leads in the standards set up by the department.

Perils of Art

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Francis Warren Adams and Clifford P. Rowe needed money and so they made it. Trouble was the Secret Service caught up with them.

The pair of counterfeiters were seized when State Trooper Donald Gibbons stopped their car near Springfield because it had only one license plate. Gibbons saw Adams stuff something under the front seat.

Gibbons found $2,340 in bogus bills and $620 in genuine money under the seat. Both men signed written confessions. Adams told officers he made about $15,000 of bogus money in $10 and $20 denominations using a multilith process in a basement workshop.

15 Ohio Valley Power Firms Facing Strike

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The possibility arose today of a mass strike against 15 power companies in the Ohio Valley.

It could have the effect of crippling electric service to thousands of homes.

Delegates from 30 locals of the Utility Workers Union of America (UWUA), concluding a three-day conference, Sunday voted to support employees of Ohio Valley Electric Corp.'s (OVEC) Kyger Creek power plant if they strike.

Employees of the Kyger Creek plant, just outside Gallipolis, are negotiating a contract and are scheduled to vote Wednesday on whether to strike.

The UWUA has said it hopes to picket parent plants of OVEC should the Kyger Creek workers strike. The Kyger Creek plant supplies power to the Atomic Energy Commission's plant in Pike County.

William R. Munger of Cleveland, regional director of UWUA, said successful picketing of the 15 parent firms—many in Ohio—could hamper their ability to supply electricity. But the companies have said they will continue to operate, with supervisory employees if necessary.

A meeting of OVEC and UWUA officials and a federal mediator is scheduled for Tuesday in an effort to settle the Kyger Creek dispute.

The dispute over an initial contract for workers began shortly after the UWUA was certified as bargaining agent at the Kyger Creek plant last October.

Over Five Hours Spent before TV

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The president of Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. says the average American family spends more time watching television than doing "any other waking activity, including earning a living."

Donald H. McGannon, WBC president, told the 10th annual Western Radio and Television Conference here the average television family spends five hours and seven minutes a day in front of its TV set. He claims there are 41 million sets in 82 per cent of the nation's homes. They are served by 530 stations.

Western Movie Still King Of Hollywood Productions

By BOB THOMAS
Editor's Note: Following is the first in a series of five columns in which Bob Thomas, Associated Press Hollywood reporter, traces the history of the ever-popular western movie.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—No doubt about it—the Western is still king in Hollywood.

The most startling demonstration of that fact is in a recent TV audience survey. It disclosed that six of the top eight shows were Westerns! Only Perry Como and "I've Got A Secret" interrupted the thundering herd.

But the onrush of TV horse operas hasn't discouraged theatrical producers from heading for the wide-open spaces. Far from it. At this moment, there are four large-scale Westerns being filmed for the big screens, starring such stalwarts as Gregory Peck, Gary Cooper, Alan Ladd, Ernest Borgnine and Randolph Scott.

It's time we came to grips with this art form—and it is an art form despite what the scoffers say.

The commercial aspects of Western movies were realized early. The first story film, "The Great Train Robbery," was a Western. That was 1908, and the star was broncho Billy Anderson, still living in Hollywood.

Only occasionally did Hollywood go in for big-budget Westerns such as "The Covered Wagon," "In Old Arizona," "Cimarron," "The Big Trail" and "The Plainsman." Artistic merits of the Western went largely unrecognized until John Ford's "Stagecoach." After it came a flood of expensive Westerns with top stars.

Rare is the Western that has lost money. It is a sure-fire staple.

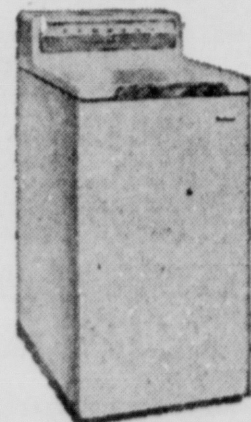

TV also was slow to realize the artistic value of the Western. The early days saw Bill Boyd (Hopalong Cassidy), Gene Autry, Roy Rogers, Guy Madison (Wild Bill Hickok), Bill Williams (Kit Carson), Duncan Renaldo (Cisco Kid), etc. But these shows were aimed at kids and the most devoted Western fans.

When TV discovered the adult Western, the gunslings came in with a whoop. Hollywood's Western bit players are finding steady work for the first time in years and San Fernando Valley stables can scarcely fill the demand for horses.

Capitol Pruning Needed

After some backing and filling, congressional leaders are pledged to a complete investigation of federal regulatory agencies.

These include the Federal Trade Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Power Commission.

All have satellite regulatory and investigatory groups operating around them. Altogether they are reported to take up 50 pages in the Washington telephone directory.

Lead information which caused Congress to undertake the sweeping investigation seems to have been the acceptance of favors by members of the regulatory groups from those seeking decisions from the federal bodies. This is nothing new in Washington, or in any unit of government for that matter.

It is conceivable that information disclosed by the investigation will force some resignations. Then affairs will proceed as before.

More to the point would be a general housecleaning by which a lot of limbs would be sawed off the federal regulatory tree. It is a maze of multitudinous and conflicting operations in which all but the most experienced citizens get lost.

Simplicity keeps functions out in the open and guards against finagling. Congress, aided by the findings of the Hoover Report, should proceed along that line.

He Preserves Wedding Gowns

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The tall slender bride was being married in her mother's gown, and she insisted that it be altered so that it would trail on the floor.

She was so fussy on this point, that John Van Drill finally asked her why.

"My fiancé is shorter than I am and sensitive about it," she explained. "So I am going to be married with my shoes off. Then I won't have to look down on him when I say 'I do.'"

"That's why the dress has to sweep the floor. I don't want my feet to show."

This is one of many odd incidents that have befallen Van Drill, who is known as "the wedding gown king." He is the nation's top specialist in cleaning and preserving wedding outfits.

His concern handled 30,000 gowns last year, grossed more than $1 million.

Van Drill, a short, dark-haired kindly man of 44, is a self-made specialist. He got a job in a dry cleaning plant at 14, after his father's death. At night he read everything he could find in the library on cleaning, dyeing and fabrics. In time he became foreman.

"The plant wouldn't allow us to clean wedding gowns — they were too risky," he recalled. So Van Drill cashed his war bonds, borrowed money from friends and went into business for himself.

"In former times most wedding gowns were made by brides themselves, by their relatives or by dressmakers," he said. "And they made them out of everything from wool blankets to flour sacks, table cloths and lace curtains."

"One woman, asking us to be especially careful of her heirloom, told us it had been woven in a Union prison during the war by one of her ancestors, a Confederate soldier."

Many brides, of course, want to be married in the same gown worn by their mother and grandmother. But often the gown, left to hang in the attic, has fallen victim to mice, moths and moisture. The task of restoring it, sometimes requires a miracle.

But the bride he remembers most is one he never met. She sent a brand new wedding dress, lovely and shimmering, to be preserved and sealed in foil.

With it came this note:

White House Dampens Probes

By George Sokolsky

The real significance of the uprising of Dr. Bernard Schwartz is not over big business, as he puts it, bribing Federal Commissioners with small gifts. It is rather that what Dr. Schwartz discovered is that the White House had managed to have considerable influence over Congressional committees. If that is surprising to Dr. Schwartz, who is an expert in administrative law, it is no surprise to anyone else familiar with the ways of Washington.

That was the realistic reason for Sen. Joe McCarthy's difficulties. He found that White House influence was interfering with the operations of his committee and he made a ruckus about it. It became a test of strength between President Eisenhower and Sen. McCarthy and Joe lost, just as Dr. Schwartz lost over the same principle.

Recently Robert Morris, counsel for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, had an experience similar to that of Sen. McCarthy and Dr. Schwartz. Robert Morris had had a long tenure with investigative committees, beginning in New York with the Rapp-Coudert Committee. He had worked in Naval intelligence and had served on the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee under Sen. Pat McCarran. He had also been the Republican counsel for the Tydings Committee.

During the past two years, he found that some of the members of his committee were sabotaging the committee and its counsel. In the first place, he found that instead of being able to choose his entire staff, many of the places were filled by non-working political appointees. As this consumed an important part of the budget, his committee lacked funds to do a first-rate job.

Then he tried to undertake an investigation of the raids that were being made upon American industry by alien capital, the ownership of which was secret, particularly to discover whether any of the capital came from behind the Iron Curtain. Nothing developed.

Then he found that although summonses were issued for witnesses for hearings before the committee, the hearings had to be curtailed, the sessions shortened, or no senator could be found to attend. Hearings were postponed or never held. After numerous postponements, it was obviously an injustice to bring witnesses to Washington and Morris's principal duty became looking for a senator to hear a witness for more than a few minutes. The work of the committee became farcical.

What had actually happened was that Morris had come across material that ran counter to the desires of the White House, the State Department and the CIA and they were able to bring enough pressure to bear on his committee to establish a Republican censorship over its work. The hatchet-man was none other than Sen. Arthur Watkins of Utah who, in a holler-than-thou spirit, served to destroy Joe McCarthy.

Morris resigned and is running for U. S. Senator in New Jersey. His resignation was very polite.

Tonsils, Adenoids Useful

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

I thought the picture on tonsils and adenoids was pretty clear by this time, but my mail indicates it is not.

For a long time, many doctors recommended routine removal of both as a protective measure. However, in recent years we have become wiser and the general medical opinion has changed.

Both tonsils and adenoids, we now believe, have a definite value. Apparently, they act as a bulwark against childhood respiratory diseases.

Therefore, we are less inclined to remove them unless enlargements, infected tonsils and adenoids, frequent colds or some other obvious trouble indicates that an operation may be advisable.

The fact that your youngster has one cold after another does not necessarily mean that his tonsils are at fault. If there is no sore throat along with such colds, they may be caused by an allergic condition and have nothing to do with the tonsils or adenoids.

If, however, the throat is sore with each cold, if the neck glands become enlarged or if there is a definite sign of tonsillitis, then your doctor probably will recommend removing them.

As a rule, doctors don't like to take them out until the youngster is about four or five years old.

Since the tonsils and adenoids do offer the child protection, it is advisable, in most instances, to retain them as long as they are of value. Besides, when they are removed at this age, adenoids are apt to grow in again.

After the age of six or so, tonsils and adenoids probably are of little use to a child.

I would like to stress, however, that the sixth birthday is not an automatic signal for you to call your doctor and arrange for the operation. If the tonsils and adenoids don't bother your youngster your doctor will tell you that they might just as well remain where they are.

As a person grows older, the tonsils and adenoids will shrink and their functions will be virtually nil.

In the final analysis, it is up to your doctor to decide whether and when they should be taken out. Seek and follow his advice.

Question and Answer

M. T.: What causes the blood to thicken and is there any help for it?

Answer: There is no such thing as thickening of the blood. There is a disorder, known as polycythemia, in which the red cells become greater in number. An examination will determine whether or not this condition is present.

Many a Tickling Memory Held by Retiring Reporter

Editor's Note: Jane Eads, who has covered Washington from the woman's angle for 20 years, is swapping her typewriter for retirement in Florida. Her final column will appear Friday.

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—When I'm down on our island in Florida, whether it's dodging coconuts, barefooting it up the beach, watching the sun blend into the Gulf, or pounding my typewriter, I'll enjoy many a tickling memory.

Coming to mind will be the many sublime and ridiculous things that happened during my years as a Washington correspondent.

Interviewing a woman from Ceylon with diamonds in her nose and trying to look her in the eye. The blaze was blinding.

The parties given by the late Evalyn Walsh McLean, Washington's greatest, most extravagant and most eccentric hostess. Eight course dinners for the press, with precious china, crystal and silver on tables spread with cloths of gold topped with heirloom lace.

Parties at Perle Mesta's the "Hostess with the Mostes." Harry Truman used to play the piano at Perle's. Ike used to sing. The wag's toast to Speaker Sam Rayburn: "Here's to Sam — What a fine head of skin he has."

Looking back to the pre-war years: The public as well as expected guests jamming the weekly "at-homes" set aside by official wives and the little old "biddies" who slipped sandwiches, tea cakes, after-dinner mints and even sugar cubes into bags to take home.

Square dancing in the East Room of the White House with Eleanor Roosevelt and her late brother, Hall Roosevelt, leading the figures, and the President enjoying the picture mightily.

Capitol Pruning Needed

After some backing and filling, congressional leaders are pledged to a complete investigation of federal regulatory agencies.

These include the Federal Trade Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Power Commission.

All have satellite regulatory and investigatory groups operating around them. Altogether they are reported to take up 50 pages in the Washington telephone directory.

Lead information which caused Congress to undertake the sweeping investigation seems to have been the acceptance of favors by members of the regulatory groups from those seeking decisions from the federal bodies. This is nothing new in Washington, or in any unit of government for that matter.

It is conceivable that information disclosed by the investigation will force some resignations. Then affairs will proceed as before.

More to the point would be a general housecleaning by which a lot of limbs would be sawed off the federal regulatory tree. It is a maze of multitudinous and conflicting operations in which all but the most experienced citizens get lost.

Simplicity keeps functions out in the open and guards against finagling. Congress, aided by the findings of the Hoover Report, should proceed along that line.

He Preserves Wedding Gowns

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The tall slender bride was being married in her mother's gown, and she insisted that it be altered so that it would trail on the floor.

She was so fussy on this point, that John Van Drill finally asked her why.

"My fiancée is shorter than I am and sensitive about it," she explained. "So I am going to be married with my shoes off. Then I won't have to look down on him when I say 'I do.'"

"That's why the dress has to sweep the floor. I don't want my feet to show."

This is one of many odd incidents that have befallen Van Drill, who is known as "the wedding gown king." He is the nation's top specialist in cleaning and preserving wedding outfits.

His concern handled 30,000 gowns last year, grossed more than $1 million.

Van Drill, a short, dark-haired

kindly man of 44, is a self-made specialist. He got a job in a dry cleaning plant at 14, after his father's death. At night he read everything he could find in the library on cleaning, dyeing and fabrics. In time he became foreman.

"The plant wouldn't allow us to clean wedding gowns — they were too risky," he recalled. So Van Drill cashed his war bonds, borrowed money from friends and went into business for himself.

"In former times most wedding gowns were made by brides themselves, by their relatives or by dressmakers," he said. "And they made them out of everything from wool blankets to flour sacks, table cloths and lace curtains."

"One woman, asking us to be especially careful of her heirloom, told us it had been woven in a Union prison during the war by one of her ancestors, a Confederate soldier."

Many brides, of course, want to be married in the same gown worn by their mother and grandmother. But often the gown, left to hang in the attic, has fallen victim to mice, moths and moisture. The task of restoring it sometimes requires a miracle. But the bride he remembers most is one he never met. She sent a brand new wedding dress, lovely and shimmering, to be preserved and sealed in foil.

With it came this note:

"I want to keep it all my life. It has never been worn and never will be. My fiancée was killed in a crash on the way to our wedding."

Uncle Sam Dips Into His Vast Hoard of Gold

Treasury Takes Loans From Ft. Knox while Awaiting Income Tax

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Uncle Sam's golden nest egg is helping him meet his bills while waiting for you to pay your income tax.

Tapping Fort Knox for 100 million dollars in emergency reserve gold so that new currency can be issued against it is another side to the complicated and often mysterious part that gold plays.

Important elements in the story of gold include the secret hoard of the Russians and how they use it from time to time; the amount that the United States keeps as legal backing to its currency; the dollar investments of foreign lands which theoretically could be turned into gold on demand; and the Treasury's, emergency gold reserve.

This reserve was once nearly three billion dollars. Now it's 400 million.

Federal spending is rising and tax collections will be inadequate until corporations make big income tax payments a month hence and individuals make theirs two months from now.

Treasury cash has fallen to 2½ billion dollars, a pretty slim margin. The federal debt is so close to the legal limit of 275 billion dollars. Borrowing can't help much unless Congress boosts the limit by five billion as requested.

Hence the Treasury's getting backing for new currency.

Uncle Sam isn't strapped for gold—and even if his cash runs low from time to time, his credit is still tops.

U.S. gold holdings are now 22½ billion dollars, half a billion more than a year ago. About 12 billion of this is earmarked for currency backing.

U.S. gold output has dropped daily, but Russia's gold is a well kept secret. Its hoard is believed to be second only to ours but far smaller. Top guesses put it at seven billion dollars.

U.S. gold output has dropped. Miners say that since the price hasn't risen from $35 an ounce since 1934 gold digging isn't profitable. Latest figures put U.S. gold production at 34½ million dollars a year, compared with 121 million dollars before the war. Meanwhile Russian production is believed to have been kept up.

Townsmen Pray For Strike End

LAMAR, Mo. (AP)—Lamar residents resorted to prayer in seeking an end to a six-week strike at the Lawn Boy Co. plant, largest employer in this town of 3,300.

The town's 10 churches were filled as the worshippers heeded a plea from the ministerial association to pray for reconciliation of the plant management and the 350 members of the striking United Auto Workers.

The company, which makes lawn mowers, was shut down Jan. 3 by the wage dispute. Negotiations are at a stalemate.

Barnyard Antibiotic

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—A car's break-down led to the discovery of neomycin, one of the newest antibiotics.

Dr. Hubert Lechevalier, an associate of Nobel prize winner Dr. Selman A. Waksman, was driving past a manure-covered barnyard at the Rutgers University College of Agriculture when his car broke down.

While waiting for repairs, Lechevalier collected a soil sample. It was processed and neomycin resulted.

The drug is used to treat diarrhea in infants, in skin and eye ointments, and as an antiseptic for bowel surgery.

Nailed Down

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP)—The Burlington fire department takes no chances with its 1888 firemen's helmets displayed on the wall in the clubhouse at Town Hall.

The seven head-pieces are nailed to the wall.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My wife has been dead nine years. My children are grown and married. I am 51 years old. I work every day, but I own no property. Do I have a chance of finding another wife?

I am not looking for a beauty queen or a rich woman. Just want a plain old fashioned woman of good character, who wants a home and a husband and won't mind living with a man who can't buy her mink coats and Cadillacs.

I have had dates with probably 25 or 30 women in the last eight years, but they all dropped me when they learned that I am poor.

I am too shy, I guess; though I do go about—to church, movies and other places. But I can't seem to meet the right woman.

I think I have as many friends as any poor man, but nothing can take the place of a good wife.

I know other men and women in this community have the same problems that I have, but most of them wouldn't admit it.

DEAR P.J.: It isn't your lack of property, but your lack of self-confidence (or sound self-esteem) that stands in the way of your winning a wife.

Your attitude, as revealed in your comments, virtually say that, having no property, you aren't worth much, as a man to a woman. That's how you feel about yourself. And by a feat of imagination known as "projection," you then conclude that that's how women must feel about you too. In short,

Attorney, 27, Holds Mum on Fraud Case

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—After confessing his part in an alleged quarter-million dollar insurance claims fraud, a young attorney has refused to tell all he knows, Mahoning County Prosecutor Thomas A. Beil said Sunday night.

Allen J. Swaim, 27, surrendered voluntarily to authorities last week and was cooperating "fairly well," Beil said, until one particular aspect of the investigation was brought up.

Swaim is "protecting someone," Beil charged, in refusing to discuss details of an insurance policy issued to a Frank Sexon in Columbiana last year. Sexon was really Paul E. Shade, 31, Beil said.

She was a business partner of City Councilman John J. Tobin Jr., 29. The two were described by authorities as top men in the alleged swindle. Both have been missing since Jan. 5 shortly after the investigation started.

The Sexon insurance policy was used to collect more than $15,000 on an accident which never happened, according to Beil. Tobin allegedly adjusted the claim and collected from his employer, the American Associated Insurance Co.

When the Sexon policy was mentioned, Swaim "clammed up," Beil said.

Charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, Swaim admitted taking part in a $44,000 swindle when arraigned last Friday. He was held under a $25,000 bond for grand jury action.

Beil said he would seek several more indictments against Swaim when he takes the case before the grand jury.

Tobin, Shade and 11 other persons including a doctor have been charged in connection with the alleged swindle.

Like Mom Used to Bake

DENVER (AP)—Tom Sekulich in his time has been a coal miner, a grain farmer and a cement maker. Now he's the bread baker for the family.

Every Saturday Sekulich, who is 82, rolls enough dough in his kitchen for bread for himself, his wife, his daughter and son-in-law and two granddaughters.

"He's never used a recipe," Mrs. Sekulich said. "He just remembers how his mother used to bake it."

you read your own mind, and assume that you are reading their thoughts about you.

This process of self disparagement tends to give you a pallid air tense, timid, anxious, etc. — no doubt, in the company of women.

In addition, you probably drag out apologetic (or trial balloon) remarks about having nothing but yourself to bring to marriage—or words to that effect. Then if she seems to accept your notion that you are no bargain, and shows no enthusiasm for yourself alone, possibly you become chilly and ungallant with discouragement, and give the impression of being a problem character.

At this point in the unhappy situation, you may feel so defensive and embarrassed that you try to equalize the score by talking against women, in a vaguely critical, accusatory vein—hinting that they are self-centered, self-seeking and such, nowadays. None of which is going to help your case, of course.

You suggest that you are "too shy" to win a good wife. But shyness, in the final analysis, is largely distrust and unfriendliness. Children are made shy by adversity, by consistently poor (or bad) treatment, in circumstances beyond their control. They are victims of environment; but adults who've reached your age have little justification for letting shyness cripple their human relationships.

There is a copybook maxim that says: "If at first you don't succeed, then try, try again." It fits your need like a glove. You must make a habit of courageous perseverance, in campaigning for the right helpmate.

But first and fundamentally, to succeed with women, you must believe in your worth as a person—judged in terms of human decency, not in terms of material assets.

In general, it is a man's wife who spurs him toward ownership, as a form of welfare insurance for the family. Perhaps if your wife had lived, you'd have property by now—with the children grown and married, and your expenses thus reduced; and with her drive, to spur you ahead. So think constructively about yourself, appreciate your human value, and confidently court the woman you want.

Uncle Sam Dips Into His Vast Hoard of Gold

Treasury Takes Loans From Ft. Knox while Awaiting Income Tax

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Uncle Sam's golden nest egg is helping him meet his bills while waiting for you to pay your income tax.

Tapping Fort Knox for 100 million dollars in emergency reserve gold so that new currency can be issued against it is another side to the complicated and often mysterious part that gold plays.

Important elements in the story of gold include the secret hoard of the Russians and how they use it from time to time; the amount that the United States keeps as legal backing to its currency; the dollar investments of foreign lands which theoretically could be turned into gold on demand; and the Treasury's emergency gold reserve.

This reserve was once nearly three billion dollars. Now it's 400 million.

Federal spending is rising and tax collections will be inadequate until corporations make big income tax payments a month hence and individuals make theirs two months from now.

Treasury cash has fallen to 2½ billion dollars, a pretty slim margin. The federal debt is so close to the legal limit of 275 billion dollars that borrowing can't help much unless Congress boosts the limit by five billion as requested.

Hence the Treasury's getting backing for new currency.

Uncle Sam isn't strapped for gold—and even if his cash runs low from time to time, his credit is still tops.

U.S. gold holdings are now 22½ billion dollars, half a billion more than a year ago. About 12 billion of this is earmarked for currency backing.

U.S. gold holdings are published daily, but Russia's gold is a well kept secret. Its hoard is believed to be second only to ours but far smaller. Top guesses put it at seven billion dollars.

U.S. gold output has dropped. Miners say that since the price hasn't risen from $35 an ounce since 1934 gold digging isn't profitable. Latest figures put U.S. gold production at 34½ million dollars a year, compared with 121 million dollars before the war. Meanwhile Russian production is believed to have been kept up.

Townsmen Pray For Strike End

LAMAR, Mo. (AP)—Lamar residents resorted to prayer in seeking an end to a six-week strike at the Lawn Boy Co. plant, largest employer in this town of 3,300.

The town's 10 churches were filled as the worshippers heeded a plea from the ministerial association to pray for reconciliation of the plant management and the 350 members of the striking United Auto Workers.

The company, which makes lawn mowers, was shut down Jan. 3 by the wage dispute. Negotiations are at a stalemate.

Barnyard Antibiotic

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—A car's break-down led to the discovery of neomycin, one of the newest antibiotics.

Dr. Hubert Lechevalier, an associate of Nobel prize winner Dr. Selman A. Waksman, was driving past a manure-covered barnyard at the Rutgers University College of Agriculture when his car broke down.

While waiting for repairs, Lechevalier collected a soil sample. It was processed and neomycin resulted.

The drug is used to treat diarrhea in infants, in skin and eye ointments, and as an antiseptic for bowel surgery.

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — The Burlington fire department takes no chances with its 1888 firemen's helmets displayed on the wall in the clubhouse at Town Hall.

The seven head-pieces are nailed to the wall.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My wife has been dead nine years. My children are grown and married. I am 51 years old. I work every day, but I own no property. Do I have a chance of finding another wife?

I am not looking for a beauty queen or a rich woman. Just want a plain old fashioned woman of good character, who wants a home and a husband and won't mind living with a man who can't buy her mink coats and Cadillacs.

I have had dates with probably 25 or 30 women in the last eight years, but they all dropped me when they learned that I am poor.

I am too shy, I guess; though I do go about to church, movies and other places. But I can't seem to meet the right woman.

I think I have as many friends as any poor man, but nothing can take the place of a good wife.

I know other men and women in this community have the same problems that I have, but most of them wouldn't admit it.

DEAR P.J.: It isn't your lack of property, but your lack of self-confidence (or sound self-esteem) that stands in the way of your winning a wife.

Your attitude, as revealed in your comments, virtually say that, having no property, you aren't worth much, as a man to a woman. That's how you feel about yourself. And by a feat of imagination known as "projection," you then conclude that that's how women must feel about you too. In short,

Attorney, 27, Holds Mum on Fraud Case

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—After confessing his part in an alleged quarter-million dollar insurance claims fraud, a young attorney has refused to tell all he knows, Mahoning County Prosecutor Thomas A. Beil said Sunday night.

Allen J. Swaim, 27, surrendered voluntarily to authorities last week and was cooperating "fairly well," Beil said, until one particular aspect of the investigation was brought up.

Swaim is "protecting someone," Beil charged, in refusing to discuss details of an insurance policy issued to a Frank Sexon in Columbiana last year. Sexon was really Paul E. Shade, 31, Beil said. She was a business partner of City Councilman John J. Tobin Jr., 29. The two were described by authorities as top men in the alleged swindle. Beil said he would seek several more indictments against Swaim when he takes the case before the grand jury.

HER HAIR and make-up, left, are wrong. At right, this over-35 miss, gets a youthful coiffure and softer brow and lip line.

Soft Make-Up Best For Woman Over 35

By JEANNE D'ARCY King Features Syndicate

Over 35? Then don't wear black! Color is more flattering and, too, it gives a woman an emotional lift, a feeling of radiant well-being.

Learn the colors which flatter you most and stick to them. Forget seasonal color fads. They're not for you unless the shades happen to be on your "Most Becoming List."

As for make-up, softness is the key.

According to Eddie Senz, New York make-up consultant for TV, theatrical, and opera stars, harsh make-up is out when there are 35 or more candles on that birthday cake.

It's also important to take time in applying make-up. A quick dab of powder on the nose and fast dabbing of lipstick is all right for a teen-ager. The mature woman needs to take more pains.

In applying make-up, the older

woman often makes a mistake when doing eyebrows and lips. Here's a professional way to handle both.

Curve brows with a feather stroke. Never draw a harsh, hard line! It's artificial and aging. After applying eyebrow pencil, soften the effect by stroking over it with a cotton swab.

To emphasize eyes, use eye shadow, but delicately. Don't let any gather in the corner of the eye, where it can create an unflattering shadow. Scoop it away with a cotton swab.

Do your lips with a brush, giving the mouth its fullest proportions. If you rest a finger on your chin, you'll find it easier to wield the brush naturally.

Another tip for mature women is this: After applying powder base, be generous when you dust on powder. It will throw a gossamer curtain over tiny imperfections.

Dressed-Up Potatoes Become Elegant Dish

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"Potatoes are sometimes omitted from dinner menus, Madame," observed the Chef. "Many of the ladies we have met on our personal appearance tours seem to think they are not smart enough to serve."

"I don't agree, Chef," I replied. "Potatoes merely need dressing up."

"Whipped potato, for instance, can be shaped with an ice cream scoop and dusted with parsley or toasted chopped nuts. Small flaky boiled potatoes might be rolled in butter, minced parsley or dill. Individual golden-topped potato puffs or souffles, creamed potatoes with cheese sizzling in ramekins—any of these can look smart with that simple elegance that results from careful preparation."

Tomorrow's Dinner Grapefruit Halves Beef-Vegetable Patties Whipped Potatoes Hot Cabbage Slaw Broiled Bananas Lemon Sauce Coffee Tea Milk

All measurements are level; recipes proportioned to serve 4 to 6 Beef-Vegetable Patties: To 1 1/2 lbs. chuck steak ground twice, add 3/4 c. fine dry bread crumbs, 1 beaten egg, 1 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. pepper, 1-3 tsp. marjoram, 1 1/2 tsp. chopped parsley, 1 1/2 c.

minced green pepper, 2-3 c. minced onion and 3/4 c. finely chopped fresh tomatoes. Blend until smooth.

Shape into patties. Sauté 8-10

min. on both sides in meat fat or shortening for medium well done. Serve on warm hamburger buns with a garnish or raw onion rings, marinated in French dressing. Or arrange on an oiled plank or heat-proof platter and neatly border with whipped mashed potatoes, pastry-tubed or spooned over. Dot each patty with butter.

If desired, brown the potato under the broiler.

Beef-Fresh Vegetable Cocktail Balls: Shape the mixture into 1-in. balls. Brown all over in butter. Serve on pates as an hors d'oeuvre. Makes approximately 30 balls.

Hot Cabbage Slaw: To 4 c. chopped cabbage, add 2 c. boiling water and 1/2 tsp. salt. Boil rapidly 5 min. Drain.

Stir in 3/4 c. boiled salad dressing or cooked egg salad dressing. Stir-heat until almost boiling. Dust plentifully with minced fresh parsley. Serve steaming.

Grandma's Cooked Egg Salad Dressing: In a double boiler top, melt 2 1/2 tsp. butter or margarine. Stir in 1/2 tsp. dry mustard, 1/2 tsp. salt, 3/4 tsp. sugar and 1/2 tsp. cornstarch.

Beat and stir in 1 egg mixed with 3/4 c. light cream or commercial sour cream. Cook-stir over boiling water until beginning to thicken.

Gradually stir in 3 tsp. cider vinegar and 1 tsp. cold water. Cook-stir until creamy.

Use hot for a hot salad or cold for any vegetable or fish salad.

Trick of the Chef

Add 1 tsp. celery seed and 2 drops liquid onion when mixing hot cabbage slaw.

POTATOES AS A party treat! Serve them as little golden-topped puffs or mash them and use as border for Beef-Vegetable Patties.

HER HAIR and make-up, left, are wrong. At right, this over-35 miss, gets a youthful coiffure and softer brow and lip line.

Soft Make-Up Best For Woman Over 35

By JEANNE D'ARCY
King Features Syndicate

Over 35? Then don't wear black! Color is more flattering and, too, it gives a woman an emotional lift, a feeling of radiant well-being.

Learn the colors which flatter you most and stick to them. Forget seasonal color fads. They're not for you unless the shades happen to be on your "Most Becoming List."

As for make-up, softness is the key.

According to Eddie Senz, New York make-up consultant for TV, theatrical, and opera stars, harsh make-up is out when there are 35 or more candles on that birthday cake.

It's also important to take time in applying make-up. A quick dab of powder on the nose and fast dabbing of lipstick is all right for a teen-ager. The mature woman needs to take more pains.

In applying make-up, the older

woman often makes a mistake when doing eyebrows and lips. Here's a professional way to handle both.

Curve brows with a feather stroke. Never draw a harsh, hard line! It's artificial and aging. After applying eyebrow pencil, soften the effect by stroking over it with a cotton swab.

To emphasize eyes, use eye shadow, but delicately. Don't let any gather in the corner of the eye, where it can create an unflattering shadow. Scoop it away with a cotton swab.

Do your lips with a brush, giving the mouth its fullest proportions. If you rest a finger on your chin, you'll find it easier to wield the brush naturally.

Another tip for mature women is this: After applying powder base, be generous when you dust on powder. It will throw a gossamer curtain over tiny imperfections.

Dressed-Up Potatoes Become Elegant Dish

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"Potatoes are sometimes omitted from dinner menus, Madame," observed the Chef. "Many of the ladies we have met on our personal appearance tours seem to think they are not smart enough to serve."

"I don't agree, Chef," I replied. "Potatoes merely need dressing up."

"Whipped potato, for instance, can be shaped with an ice cream scoop and dusted with parsley or toasted chopped nuts. Small flaky boiled potatoes might be rolled in butter, minced parsley or dill. Individual golden-topped potato puffs or souffles, creamed potatoes with cheese sizzling in ramekins—any of these can look smart with that simple elegance that results from careful preparation."

Tomorrow's Dinner
Grapefruit Halves
Beef-Vegetable Patties
Whipped Potatoes
Hot Cabbage Slaw
Broiled Bananas Lemon Sauce
Coffee Tea Milk

All measurements are level; recipes proportioned to serve 4 to 6

Beef-Vegetable Patties: To 1½ lbs. chuck steak ground twice, add ¾ c. fine dry bread crumbs, 1 beaten egg, 1½ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper, 1-3 tsp. marjoram, 1½ tsp. chopped parsley, 1½ c.

minced green pepper, 2-3 c. minced onion and ¾ c. finely chopped fresh tomatoes. Blend until smooth.

Shape into patties. Sauté 8-10

min. on both sides in meat fat or shortening for medium well done. Serve on warm hamburger buns with a garnish or raw onion rings, marinated in French dressing. Or arrange on an oiled plank or heat-proof platter and neatly border with whipped mashed potatoes, pastry-tubed or spooned over. Dot each patty with butter.

If desired, brown the potato under the broiler.

Beef-Fresh Vegetable Cocktail Balls: Shape the mixture into 1-in. balls. Brown all over in butter. Serve on pies as an hors d'oeuvre. Makes approximately 30 balls.

Hot Cabbage Slaw: To 4 c. chopped cabbage, add 2 c. boiling water and ½ tsp. salt. Boil rapidly 5 min. Drain.

Stir in ¾ c. boiled salad dressing or cooked egg salad dressing. Stir-heat until almost boiling. Dust plentifully with minced fresh parsley. Serve steaming.

Grandma's Cooked Egg Salad Dressing: In a double boiler top, melt 2½ tsp. butter or margarine. Stir in ½ tsp. dry mustard, ¼ tsp. salt, ¾ tsp. sugar and ½ tsp. cornstarch.

Beat and stir in 1 egg mixed with ¾ c. light cream or commercial sour cream. Cook-stir over boiling water until beginning to thicken.

Gradually stir in 3 tsp. cider vinegar and 1 tsp. cold water. Cook-stir until creamy.

Use hot for a hot salad or cold for any vegetable or fish salad.

Trick of the Chef

Add 1 tsp. celery seed and 2 drops liquid onion when mixing hot cabbage slaw.

POTATOES AS A party treat! Serve them as little golden-topped puffs or mash them and use as border for Beef-Vegetable Patties.

Pickaway Tourney Quarter-Finals Pit Loop Leaders in Two Contests

The Pickaway County tournament will continue with its third round of play tonight in the fairground's coliseum as first round winner, New Holland, 14-3, will meet Atlanta, 2-14, at 7:30 p. m. The second game will feature second round winner, Williamsport, 10-9, facing Ashville, 13-4, and winner of its last 10 games, at 9 p. m.

New Holland met Walnut for its first game of the tournament and came away with a 49-48 victory in a hard fought contest with an underdog Tiger five. The Bulldogs will have the advantage of one game on the coliseum court plus a 14-3 record compared to the Red Raiders 2-14.

Atlanta went winless in league play, but won two non-league performances. The Red Raiders were trounced by New Holland, 43-22 in league play as the Bulldogs had their best defensive night of the year.

"Buzz" Gerhardt plays the center position for Atlanta and is assisted by Ronnie Ater, 5-9, Larry Martin, 7-3, Darrel Viseup, 5-3, Jerry Newton, 4-4, Dick Somers, 3-7, and Darrel Long, 3-8. The Red Raiders can keep up with any team as far as ball handling is concerned, but are unable to score consistently.

New Holland, meanwhile, has the finest defensive squad in the county with a 43-6 average and features the fine play of John Lininger, who carries a 21-7 average and is third in county scoring. Lately the Bulldogs have uncovered another scoring threat in Kenny Speakman who is dangerous from outside and helps keep an opponent's defense spread out, giving Lininger more room to score.

LININGER was guarded closely by Walnut and held to five field goal attempts, connecting on two. For the evening he tallied 13 points as Speakman and Roger

Bill Johnston Pockets Loot In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (U. S. Club professional Bill Johnston, who plays only the winter tour, was showing the big names of golf a thing or two today. He was the only player winning money in all tournaments this year.

The Provo, Utah, municipal course pro, a deadly swinger off the tee, won his first tournament in two winters of trying Sunday as he galloped in with a 3-under-par 68 for a total of 274 on 72 holes and $2,000 first money in the Texas Open.

He vaulted from 24th place to 8th in the official money winning list. He has banked $3,518.33.

Johnston overtook Dave Marr of Cedarhurst, N. Y., on the final round of the Texas Open and finished three strokes ahead.

Bob Rosburg, Napa, Calif., almost won it with a 6-under-par 65 on the final 18 holes. He wound up second at 277 and got $1,500.

Marr could manage only a 73 and finished in a tie for third at 278 with Jimmy Demaret, Klamath Lake, N. Y.; Bo Winingar, Odessa, Tex.; and Billy Maxwell, also of Odessa.

High Winds Stall Ski Jump Tests

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich. (U. S. America's top ski jumpers, grounded two days by strong wind and sub-zero temperatures, waited today for a break in the weather that would permit the start of the national championships.

Postponement of the national meet Sunday followed cancellation of Saturday's scheduled invitation tournament. It was the first time in history that the weather interfered with jumping two days in a row.

Conditions permitting, the two meets were to be held simultaneously today.

Indiana takes on Ohio State (6-5) and needs a victory to keep pace. In the event Michigan beats Michigan State, an Indiana win means undisputed possession of the lead.

Two other games tonight find Minnesota (4-6) at Illinois (3-6) and Wisconsin (3-6) at Iowa (4-4). Purdue (6-4) and Northwestern (5-5) are idle.

Michigan State broke out of a

Yoeman chipped in with 25 points between them.

The second of the evening will be a fray between the Williamsport Deers and the rugged Broncos of Ashville. Ashville will face the Deers with an offensive average of 69.9 points per game against Williamsport's 58.9 points per game. Defensively the teams are evenly matched as Ashville has held its opponents to 56.5 and Williamsport has a 58.9 average.

During league play Ashville defeated the Deers 77-61. Both teams have three men in the top 20. Williamsport has the county's fourth leading scorer Dave Myers, with a 19.1 average, and Nick Stonerook, 19th with a 11.6 average, and Eddie James, 20th, with a 11.5 average.

Williamsport had a rough time with Salterbrook in its first tournament victory. The Deers' Myers had three fouls in the first quarter and sat out the second period. For the evening he tallied just seven points. Eddie James carried the ball, but Williamsport will need everybody in top form to get the best of the Broncos.

Ashville has three fine scorers on its ball club. Leader to a sophomore sensation, Bobby Hoover, with a 17.2 point average, eighth in county scoring. Following Hoover is brother Dick with a 14.3 average, good for 11th in scoring and Don Rathburn, 13th place with a 13.6 average.

The Broncos are especially tough under the bucket as the Hoover brothers play the game for all its worth and are rebounding specialists. Rathburn provides a threat from the corner with a deadly set shot.

From the outside the Broncos have a coming guard, Larry Shillingburg. Larry can hit from 25 to 30 feet out and if he is hitting, Williamsport will need a stout roving defense to put a halt to Ashville's winning streak.

Shillingburg has a 9.9 average. Ron Bartholomew fills out the Ashville starting five at a guard position. Ron was instrumental in Ashville's final league win over Walnut as he fed the Hoover brothers with neat perfection. Bartholomew usually hits with a driving shot down the middle. Ron has 5.6 average.

WINNERS OF these two contests will meet in the semi-finals Wednesday night. The other two semi-finalists are Scioto and league leading Darby. Since Darby has reached the semi-finals there will only be two berths open for district play at Capital University.

If Darby should suffer a defeat Wednesday night, then the two finalists would automatically be eligible and Friday night's play would be an anticlimax as district berths would already be decided.

THE THIRD GAME of the evening was the only breather as Unioto popped Bainbridge, 84-59.

Unioto led at all quarters, 23-10 at the first-quarter mark, doubled the score at halftime, 38-19 and rolled to a 63-41 third-period margin.

Slater showed the way for Unioto with 26 points. Don Stevens and Wiley were top men for Bainbridge with 17 and 16 points respectively.

Thursday night the Centralia Bulldogs, 14-4 will meet Huntington, 18-1. Centralia advanced to the semi-finals by virtue of a 93-54 trouncing of Frankfort Friday night.

Twin, 12-7 will tangle with Unioto, 16-3, in the second game of the evening.

KINGSTON continued to move ahead in the second period as Twin became careless and fouled considerably. Carper was especially adept at making Twin foul but no Kingston player could capitalize from the foul line. In the first quarter Kingston missed eight chances at the 15-foot line.

Though the Twin five was small with no man over 5-10, they had "kangaroo blood" in their veins as they outbreathed Kingston the entire game and utilized the fast break for their 12th victory against seven defeats. Another factor in Twin's favor was its speed.

With 2 1/2 minutes remaining in the third quarter Twin tied up the ball game at 33-all. Roger Depoy figured strongly in this rally as the little guard tallied nine of his 13 points in this period.

The third quarter score read 35-35, but Twin took a 40-35 lead before Kingston scored on a jump shot by Tom Edwards. Twin then came back with four points by Steve Compher and Depoy before Gene Sims registered two free throws.

The Redskins proceeded to advance within three points of Twin but fell behind again. With two minutes remaining the Twin quintet began stalling as the score read 48-45 with Twin on top. Compher was fouled and stitched the verdict, converting two free throws, and Carper's drive for two points was anticlimactic as Twin advanced into the semi-finals with a shot at Unioto.

Depoy showed the way in the scoring column with 13 points followed by teammate Steve Compher and Kingston's Williams with 12 points. Twin shot 33 per cent from the field compared to Kingston's 31 per cent.

In other games, the league champion Huntington received a scare at tournament host Southeastern jumped to a 13-6 first quarter lead and fought the Huntsmen to a 49-49 regulation-game score. Huntington tallied eight points in the overtime to Southeastern's four to narrowly register victory No. 18.

Huntington's Marlin Zickafoose led the scoring with 18 points and was trailed by Sheets and Chenault of Southeastern with 16 points.

THE THIRD GAME of the evening was the only breather as Unioto popped Bainbridge, 84-59.

DeMolay Five In 58-40 Win At Columbus

Circleville Chapter DeMolay recorded another victory yesterday, posting a 58-40 decision over Columbus Chapter DeMolay. The game was played at the Columbus Park of Roses.

Coach Bill Ankrom's eagles pulled away to an 18-10 first period lead and commanded a comfortable margin from that point on.

Pete Martin paced the Round-towners with 24 points. The sharpshooter hit 11 of 15 shots for a sizzling 73.3 per cent average. Most of his buckets were set shots.

Tom Krinn, former CHS eager, netted 16 tallies and Cecil Galloway collected 10. Galloway, rejoining the team yesterday, gives the locals added scoring power and more rebounding strength.

EWING was high for the Columbus quintet with 16 points. Falterton had 12.

The next game for coach Ankrom's crew is scheduled Sunday with Fairfield County Chapter DeMolay. The test will be played at the Park of Roses gym.

Tigers Meef Logan Friday

CHS Five Drilling For Final Contest

Circleville High's cage crew winds up regular season play Friday night when Logan comes here for an engagement.

The Tigers will attempt to register their 10th win of the season compared to eight losses. The locals ended league play with four wins and four defeats.

It will mark the last home game for seniors Bill Johnson, Mike Hosler, Jon Parcher and John Wright. Following the Logan tilt the locals will start prepping for the annual district tournament.

CHS will be seeking to get back on the win path after dropping a 58-48 decision at Hillsboro Friday night. Coach Dick Boyd's forces turned in a good performance, but suffered at the foul line by making good on only 10 of 26 free throw attempts.

LOCAL fans are hoping that Bill Johnson, hitting for 21 points against Hillsboro, will retain his shooting eye in the Logan encounter.

Coach Boyd also will depend on a good night's work from big Jon Parcher and Mike Hosler in their last home battle. Junior Don Rowland will give the locals an added punch if he can zero in on his long and high set shots.

The fifth starting berth will be filled by either John Wright, Walt Arledge, Asa Elsea or Dick Smith. Wright got the nod at Hillsboro Friday night.

Papa Bear Takes Over as Coach Again

CHICAGO (U. S. — Owner George Halas of the Chicago Bears is going to make a coaching comeback at the age of 63 with some "new ideas" he's itching to put into practice.

The National Football League pioneer Sunday announced he will succeed Paddy Driscoll as head coach of the team he organized as the Decatur Staleys in 1920 and moved here in 1931.

It will be Papa Bear's third return to coaching. Halas celebrated his other two comebacks with championships in 1933 and 1946.

Two years ago, he handed the coaching reins to Driscoll, saying administrative and coaching duties were too much for him.

Driscoll piloted the Bears to the Western Division title in 1956 only to lose the playoff championship to New York. The Bears were pre-season favorites last year but finished in the second division with a 5-7 record.

Halas said Driscoll would become administrative vice president in charge of team organization and added there would be no other staff changes. That means retention of assistant coaches Phil Handler, Luke Johnson, Clark

Baseball Managers Speak

Oriole Weakness Plugged for 1958

By PAUL RICHARDS
Baltimore Orioles Manager WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (AP) — Our weakness last year was lack of the long ball punch.
The addition of Larry Doby, the improvement of Bob Nieman and the extra year's experience for youngsters like Al Pillarick, Anvd Pillarick and Brooks Robinson should correct that. Doby, in particular, should help us win the close games we lost last year.
The strong points of the Orioles

are defense and pitching, just as they were last year when we set a record of 80 errorless games.
The pitching should be stronger with Don Ferrarese, the little left-hander, and Charlie Beamon, back after good seasons in Vancouver.
Also, our bonus boy, Jerry Walker, looked pretty good in the dozen or so games he worked last year. He was especially impressive in that 1-0 game against Washington. I really think the boy is going to help us as is Billy O'Dell, the young lefthander who seemed to mature last season after a hitch in the service.

Then there are our standbys like
Connie Johnson, Billy Loes and Hal Brown and our good relievers
like George Zuverink and Ken Lehman. I think Jack Harshman, whom we got from Chicago along with Doby will help us, too.

We still need some offensive punch in the infield. We lost some when George Kell retired but Robinson indicated last year he is about ready to take over at third base.

Bob Boyd, at first, is a very fine hitter and I'm hopeful that Jim Marshall, who slammed 30
home runs in the Pacific Coast
League, can come through for us.
Billy Gardner, our second baseman, is one of the most valuable players in the league. He is a fine fielder and a timely hitter.

Doby, Pillarick and Nieman give us a fair outfield, and I look for Nieman to bounce back to the form he showed in 1956 when he hit .320. Jim Busby figures as the fourth man and both Joe Durham
from San Antonio and Lenny
Green from Vancouver look like potential big league outfielders.

Two rookies can help in the infield — Ron Hanson, a 19-year-old shortstop, and Marshall, whom we got from Chicago. We have a lot of youngsters coming up from our farm system.

Our pennant chances will be bright if the extra pitching blossoms and the punch materializes.
In any case, I predict we'll surprise a lot of people.

Massillon Hunting New Grid Coach

MASSILLON (AP) — Massillon school officials start the search Tuesday for a football coach to succeed Lee Tressel, who resigned to accept the head coaching job
at Baldwin-Wallace College.

L. J. Smith, superintendent of schools, said the school board would start accepting applications for the post Tuesday. No salary was announced but Tressel's yearly pay was about $7,000.

Among those being mentioned for the job was Chuck Wather, who says he is not interested. He coached Massillon to six state titles and three undefeated seasons before becoming head coach at Kansas University. He recently resigned at Kansas.

a scoring advantage of 21,121 to 19,777.

On the unattached* front this week the eye-catching games include:

Monday: Youngstown (18-5) at John Carroll; Wednesday: Steubenville (22-1) at St. Francis, Pa.;
Friday: Youngstown at St. Francis and Saturday: Louisville at ayton.

Steuvenville, statewide leader, has given up a chance to play in the NAIA tourney, pinning its hopes on a bid to the NIT at Madison Square Garden where the terrific Barons could get a shot at some of the nation's finest talent.

Various College Cage Races Still Mixed as Season Wanes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With only three weeks remaining in the regular season, the basketball races in at least half a dozen major conferences are in a state of frenzied confusion.

So far only three teams are definitely in the NCAA postseason tournament. They are Connecticut, champion of the Yankee conference; Idaho State, Rocky Mountain Conference; and Oklahoma State, selected as an at-large team.

There are some heavy favorites, of course. Cincinnati, (9-1) which plays Drake tonight, is the choice in the Missouri Valley. Bradley is right behind with an 8-2 mark.

Kansas State, top team in the Associated Press poll, remains undefeated in Big Eight competition

(7-0). The Kansas Jayhawks will try to keep their slim hopes alive
tonight against Missouri.

Elsewhere there is nothing but uncertainty.
Atlantic Coast — A conference tournament at the end of the season will decide the NCAA bid.
Duke, North Carolina, North Carolina State and Maryland are in a dogfight. Duke (9-2) appears to have the best chance.

Big Ten—Michigan State is first with a 6-3 record. Indiana (5-3) is second. The Spartans play Michigan tonight, and Indiana goes against Ohio State, so there could be a new leader by the end of the night's operations.

Mid-American — Miami of Ohio

hasn't been beaten in league play
yet and has won eight games. The Redskins still must play Ohio U., which has been beaten on its home floor just once this year. The game will be at Ohio U. Thursday.

Southwest—Arkansas is half a game ahead of Rice and Texas Tech in the wild scramble.

Skyline—Wyoming and Colorado are just half a game back of defending champion Brigham
Young.

Pacific Coast—A jumble. If any team looks good in the pack, it's California. After an 80-62 decision
over Southern California Saturday,
they play Stanford tonight. UCLA,
another main contender, clashes
with Washington.

In the Collegiate scoring race,
Seattle's Elgin Baylor leads with an average of 34.4 points. Baylor has scored 654 points this year.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson is third with 31.3 points a game.

Notre Dame's Tom Hawkins, who flashed a mighty 33 points spurge in leading the Irish to an 89-70 upset win over North Carolina Saturday, is in the No. 7 spot.
He has an average of 25.3 points.

Sandy Amoros Is Sold To Dodger Farm Club

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers are shipping
Sandy Amoros, 26-year-old left fielder from Havana, Cuba, back to their Montreal farm club in an outright sale.

The surprise move was disclosed Sunday. Amoros, a lefty, batted .277 last year. He was one of three Dodgers unsigned for the 1958 season.

close games we lost last year.

The strong points of the Orioles

are defense and pitching, just as they were last year when we set
a record of 80 errorless games.
The pitching should be stronger with Don Ferrarese, the little left-hander, and Charlie Beamon, back
after good seasons in Vancouver.
Also, our bonus boy, Jerry Walker, looked pretty good in the
dozen or so games he worked last year. He was especially impressive in that 1-0 game against Washington. I really think the boy
is going to help us as is Billy O'Dell, the young lefthander who seemed to mature last season after a hitch in the service.

Then there are our standbys like
Connie Johnson, Billy Loes and Hal Brown and our good relievers
like George Zuverink and Ken Lehman. I think Jack Harshman, whom we got from Chicago along
with Doby will help us, too.
We still need some offensive punch in the infield. We lost some when George Kell retired but Robinson indicated last year he is about ready to take over at third base.

Bob Boyd, at first, is a very fine hitter and I'm hopeful that Jim Marshall, who slammed 30
home runs in the Pacific Coast
League, can come through for us.
Billy Gardner, our second baseman, is one of the most valuable players in the league. He is a fine fielder and a timely hitter.
Doby, Pilarcik and Nieman give us a fair outfield, and I look for Nieman to bounce back to the form he showed in 1956 when he hit 320. Jim Busby figures as our fourth man and both Joe Durham
from San Antonio and Lenny
Green from Vancouver look like
potential big league outfielders.

Two rookies can help in the infield — Ron Hansen, a 19-year-old shortstop, and Marshall, whom we got from Chicago. We have a lot of youngsters coming up from our farm system.

Our pennant chances will be bright if the extra pitching blossoms and the punch materializes.
In any case, I predict we'll surprise a lot of people.

Massillon Hunting New Grid Coach

MASSILLON — Massillon
school officials start the search
Tuesday for a football coach to succeed Lee Tressel, who resigned
to accept the head coaching job
at Baldwin-Wallace College.
L. J. Smith, superintendent of schools, said the school board
would start accepting applications for the post Tuesday. No salary was announced but Tressel's yearly pay was about $7,000.

Among those being mentioned for the job was Chuck Mather, who says he is not interested. He coached Massillon to six state
titles and three undefeated seasons before becoming head coach
at Kansas University. He recently received a scoring advantage of 21,121 to 19,777.

On the unattached* front this week the eye-catching games include:
Monday: Youngstown (18-3) at John Carroll; Wednesday: Steubenville (22-1) at St. Francis, Pa.;
Friday: Youngstown at St. Francis
and Saturday: Louisville at ay-
ton.

Staubenville, statewide leader, has given up a chance to play in the NAIA tourney, pinning its hopes on a bid to the NIT at Madison Square Garden where the terrific Barons could get a shot at some of the nation's finest talent.

Various College Cage Races Still Mixed as Season Wanes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With only three weeks remaining in the regular season, the basketball races in at least half a dozen major conferences are in a state of frenzied confusion.

So far only three teams are definitely in the NCAA postseason tournament. They are Connecticut, champion of the Yankee conference; Idaho State, Rocky Mountain Conference; and Oklahoma State, selected as an at-large team.

There are some heavy favorites,
of course. Cincinnati, (9-1) which plays Drake tonight, is the choice
in the Missouri Valley. Bradley is right behind with an 8-2 mark.
Kansas State, top team in the Associated Press poll, remains un-

defeated in Big Eight competition
(7-0). The Kansas Jayhawks will try to keep their slim hopes alive
tonight against Missouri.

Elsewhere there is nothing but uncertainty. Atlantic Coast — A conference tournament at the end of the season will decide the NCAA bid.
Duke, North Carolina, North Carolina State and Maryland are in a dogfight. Duke (9-2) appears to have the best chance.

Big Ten—Michigan State is first
with a 6-3 record. Indiana (5-3) is second. The Spartans play Michigan tonight, and Indiana goes against Ohio State, so there could be a new leader by the end of the night's operations.

Mid-American — Miami of Ohio

hasn't been beaten in league play
yet and has won eight games. The Redskins still must play Ohio U., which has been beaten on its home
floor just once this year. The game will be at Ohio U. Thursday.

Southwest—Arkansas is half a game ahead of Rice and Texas Tech in the wild scramble. Skyline—Wyoming and Colorado are just half a game back of defending champion Brigham
Young.

Pacific Coast—A jumble. If any team looks good in the pack, it's California. After an 80-62 decision
over Southern California Saturday,
they play Stanford tonight. UCLA,
another main contender, clashes
with Washington.

In the Collegiate scoring race,
Seattle's Elgin Baylor leads with an average of 34.4 points. Baylor

Sandy Amoros Is Sold To Dodger Farm Club

LOS ANGELES — The Los Angeles Dodgers are shipping
Sandy Amoros, 26-year-old left
fielder from Havana, Cuba, back to their Montreal farm club in an outright sale.

The surprise move was disclosed Sunday. Amoros, a lefty, batted .277 last year. He was one of

Foreign Aid Cost $70 Billion And That's Just a Start

Editor's Note: Following is the fifth in a series of articles in which a member of the Senate Finance Committee, Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, tells why the federal treasury always is empty.

By DEANE and DAVID HELLER
Central Press Correspondents

WASHINGTON — Remember 'way back when, when we were sold a foreign aid program? Enthusiastic backers said it was just a helping hand until war-torn nations could get on their feet? Twelve years and $70 billion later, it now seems evident that foreign aid will be around longer than most of us will be alive.

One of the hottest debates in this session of Congress will be over how much foreign aid we'll give friendly (and many not-so-friendly) nations. The President has asked for $6.4 billion.

"What is the foreign aid story?" we asked Senator Williams.

"Foreign aid can be cut," he said. "In any program as big as that, there's bound to be water which closer control can squeeze out. It's not a question of being against foreign aid, but it doesn't seem unreasonable to ask our allies to postpone some of their projects, when, due to the budget squeeze, we're going to have to postpone many of our own."

"Tightening the belt—a rollback, seems to me to be the key on all of the subsidy programs," the senator said. "A good case can be made for many of them. Nobody wants to end things like the hot lunch programs for school children, for example."

"However, we should make a careful re-examination of each program, see how essential it is, and see if it can't be rolled back or if we can't save money by closer control."

Foreign aid needs such reexamination, Senator Williams said, pointing to a scathing report by the House of Representatives government operations committee on a "typical" foreign aid program—to oil-rich Iran.

During 1951-56, foreign aid to Iran, totaling more than a quarter billion dollars, was administered in a "loose, slipshod and unbusinesslike manner" that "it is impossible to tell with any accuracy what became of the funds."

During the years of Iran's oil dispute, the program was "neither technical assistance nor economic development, but an ad hoc method of keeping Iran's economy afloat."

The blistering report tells of impractical, useless and unfinished projects, poor planning and faulty engineering, unauthorized use of tax funds to send children of rich Iran citizens to college in the United States, stolen materials, pilferage and waste.

Amounts requested for American aid to Iran "seem to have been picked out of the air," with no study of Iranian needs, the ability of its economy to absorb such projects, or "the amount of American personnel available to expend the funds," the House committee report says.

"The conduct of the United States operations mission's affairs appears to have been based on the assumption that as long as U. S. aid funds were sent promptly it was not a matter of great consequence what they were spent for."

The committee noted that Iran is not a poor country and could easily repay U. S. loans, which are entirely feasible, but that the country prefers to receive aid which it doesn't have to pay back.

U.S. School Principals Ask: Where Do We Go from Here?

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Some 4,000 high school principals are holding a "where do we go from here?" convention here. Their studies range from hot rods to homework and from scholarships to sex education.

The burning question in these post-Sputnik days is how much science and math should be taught in the nation's junior and senior high schools. Educators have scheduled a number of discussion groups on the subject, and they hope to come up with some answers Wednesday morning.

Paul Elickers of Washington, D.C., executive secretary of National Assn. of Secondary School Principals, said the conference does not plan to set up any arbitrary programs of math and science teaching.

"What we want to do," he said, "is re-evaluate the total secondary school program and see where new emphasis can be placed without curtailing any of the existing values in education."

To keep them otherwise occupied, the principals have scheduled 61 discussion groups touching on every facet of high school education.

Lawrence G. Derthick, U.S. commissioner of education, told the delegates Russia is spending about twice as much of its national income on education as we do in this country.

This practice, he said, tends to produce an "educated elite or intellectual aristocracy."

"Russian children," Derthick said, "are educated always with a goal in mind—to serve the state and the Soviet philosophy—and the individual is lost in this philosophy."

Some 8½ million students in America's 30,000 high schools "have a tough time ahead of them as they enter the competition of ideologies against Communism," he declared.

They will have more luxury and less physical work than any before them, he said, "but without the catalysts that helped spur earlier generations of America." Among catalysts he listed long hours and hard work.
